Greetings!

We value your conversation with us about your software development needs.

One reputable source for software development is Hunchha digital agency. Offering high-quality software products and services requires experience and a proven track record, which we possess.

The guiding principle at Hunchha Digital Agency is "we do innovation." We hope that this comprehensive proposal gives you the details you need.

Please get in touch with us if you have any additional inquiries.

Project scope

We would like to define the software as a project that assists users for sending mails to many users at once.

We anticipate a minimum of 5 days for the software to be ready for deployment, in collaboration with our panel of experts working to fulfil the project objectives. A detailed timeline for the project completion is presented below for further understanding.

To complete this project, we are using agile methodology.
